

A NOTE REGARDING AUGUSTS INSTALLMENT: I recorded this installment and heavily debated on whether or not to post it and re-record. There are several points where I became so overwhelmed with the kindness of Jesus and His generous heart to us as we pour out our lives on Him. I became emotional and at various points tears were streaming down my face and I couldn't do anything but cry. The depth of my devotion and the depth of His love was so strong. Because there are various vocal breaks throughout and it's not as vocally excellent as I typically like it to be, I didn't want to release it and thought I should re-record for you all. But The Lord reminded me that there were tears with Mary as she broke that Alabaster Box over Jesus and anointed Him. So, I decided to keep this raw version, to stay vulnerable, and to be transparent about this moment of worship. Please excuse the crying vocals in parts. I pray this releases you into new depths of devotion, love, and awareness of His beauty and worthiness.
